Sarah McEllistrem Becomes President of the Ramsey County Bar Association for 2019-2020

Saint Paul, MN (July 1, 2019) – The Ramsey County Bar Association (RCBA) welcomes Sarah McEllistrem as its president for the 2019-2020 bar year, which runs from July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020. McEllistrem is a partner at Collins, Buckley, Sauntry, & Haugh, PLLP, and practices in the area of employment law litigation.

McEllistrem is a graduate of William Mitchell College of Law (now Mitchell Hamline School of Law), and serves as a member of the Second District Ethics Committee and the Warren E. Burger Inn of Court. She will focus her year as RCBA president on providing member value to the association's 2700 attorney members by expanding networking opportunities to build a strong community.

Serving the RCBA with McEllistrem in leadership roles for 2019-2020 are Susan Buckley (Susan R. Buckley Attorney at Law), who serves as president-elect. Newly elected vice president Monica Dooner Lindgren, (Southern Minnesota Regional Legal Services) will serve as president of the association in 2021-2022. Referee Elizabeth Clysdale, (Ramsey County District Court) has been re-elected secretary/treasurer.

New members of the RCBA Board of Directors, who will serve three-year terms, include: Joseph Meyer (Minnesota Attorney General's Office), Heather Gilbert (Gilbert Law PLLC), and Kenya Bodden (Larson • King).

The Ramsey County Bar Association was established in 1884. The association is committed to supporting and informing legal professionals and the community.
